

Something weird is happening with the birth rates

We are seeing unprecedented collapses around the world. What is going on?

Here is something that really should be talked about more, but I am struggling to find news outlets that are willing to talk about it. We are talking about the birth rate.

The climate change fanatics often talk about "overpopulation" and that we need to have less children to save the planet, but the fact is that we are facing an under population crisis. Many countries in the West has fertility rate so low that fast forward there will be a population collapse! We need more babies born, not less.

In Sweden the fertility rate has been slowly dropping from 1.91 children per woman in 2012, to 1.67 children per woman in 2021. Keep in mind that the replacement fertility rate is at 2.1. Meaning to just keep the population stable, every woman need to have 2.1 children on average.

But now something weird is happening...

All though we have had low birthrates to begin with, they have been relatively steady. But now that number has collapsed this year and no-one seems to be able to figure out why!

And this is not just happening in one country. We are seeing the same thing happening in many countries all over the world. Really strange!

For example, in the Swedish capitol of Stockholm, there has been a 14% reduction in births the first quarter of 2022 compared with 2021. And it is not only in Stockholm, the fertility has dropped all across Sweden.

"It is a drastic and remarkable reduction beyond the usual. We have never seen anything like this before, that the bottom just falls out in just one quarter" said Gunnar Andersson, professor in demographics at Stockholm University to Dagens Nyheter.

Of course they have all kinds of speculations to what may be the explanation...

Stockholm City speculates that it could be because of the increase in housing prices, worry about the future, or, the financial crisis of 2008! Wait, what? The financial crisis of 2008 is causing the birth rate to suddenly collapse from 2021 to 2022? Wow, that makes total sense...not!

But this is not only happening in Sweden. It is happening in many other countries, including Taiwan which has seen a whopping 27.66% decline in the birthrate for the month of June this year. This is insane.

So what could be causing the birth rate to decline in such a way all over the world at the same time?

Let's do a deep dive into the birth rate statistics to see if we can find out some more information!

Something weird is happening with the excess death rate

There is a higher mortality rate than normal. What is going on here?

by 'Peter Imanuelsen, Aug 27, LINK

You might remember seeing on the news and on the TV screens over the last few years how they kept a daily count of the number of covid deaths. At times it seemed like it was the only thing they ever talked about.

I remember it. It was everywhere, all the major news outlets and TV channels were keeping track of how many people were reported as dying with covid each day, and they used this as reasons for pushing lockdowns and restrictions. We had to save grandma.

But now something weird is happening and it is nowhere to be found on the news!

Many more people are now dying than normal for some strange reason and it goes largely ignored. Where are the trackers on TV keeping track of the daily excess deaths? No?

And the weird thing is that this is not only happening in one country, it is happening in many countries all at the same time. Just like with the birthrates.

In case you missed it, I wrote an investigative article where I found that the birthrate has mysteriously collapsed all over the world – At the same time and nobody seems to know why.

Now we are seeing the same thing with the excess death rate. People are dying more than normal all over the world at the same time and nobody seems to know why.

You might say that it is because of covid that we are seeing all these excess deaths and you would be wrong. People are dying and it is not because of covid. Something else is causing it.

This is shocking

In Britain there was 10 355 deaths of all causes in England and Wales. And this is just for week 32! This is almost 1000 more than normal and this is just in 1 week alone! Compared with the 5 year average, this is a shocking increase of 10.1%

In Europe this summer we saw over 10 000 non-covid related excess deaths in just 1 week. This is horrible.

In Norway there has also been a massive increase in the death rate, with a whopping 18% more people dying in the first quarter of 2022 compared with the same period in 2021. Meanwhile the birthrate in Norway has set a new record low. That is not good!

It get's worse...

If we take a look at the excess deaths among children aged 0-14 across Europe, there has been a HORRIFYING 1101% increase in excess deaths so far this year compared with the same time period in 2021. Why?

We have been under many restrictions and lockdowns over the last few years just to avoid this very thing, to avoid deaths. Now people are dying and nobody seems to be asking any questions or even barely talking about it.

So I will do what the mainstream media does not – I will talk about it and try to find out what is going on here.
