

The Intentional Destruction of White Birth Rates: Leaked reports from Planned Parenthood, the Rockefeller Foundation, World Bank, US NSC (incl. CIA, military etc.)

- by Thuletide, Jun 11, 2021, LINK

A declassified trio of documents, all produced around 1970, prove that White birth rates have been intentionally destroyed throughout the West. You can find the full reports online at the following links, but highlighted versions are included at the end of this short article:

1. Population Planning, United Nations' World Bank (1972), LINK
2. Implications of Worldwide Population Growth ('The Kissinger Report'), US National Security Council (includes CIA, military, etc.) (1974), LINK
3. Activities Relevant to the Study of Population Policy for the U.S ('The Jaffe Memo'), Planned Parenthood on behalf of John D. Rockefeller's Population Council (1969), LINK

The reports explicitly detail techniques to intentionally reduce the birth rates of a population. Almost all of these techniques have been openly implemented throughout the West, excluding one or two of the most extreme options (e.g. forced sterilization), which they may attempt to implement covertly or through a trojan horse.

This means that the Replacement Migration agenda was a stereotypical Problem-Reaction-Solution:

- Globalists want to transform White civilization into multi-racial-mixed-race civilization.
- Globalists intentionally destroy White birth rates via techniques documented below.
- Globalists tell us that we need mass migration of non-Whites to "fix" our birth rates.
- Globalists get their multi-racial society.

Key points found throughout all documents include:

- Contraception to be made easily and readily available
- Expand range of contraceptives available
- Position water with chemical birth control
- Promote and encourage sterilization
- "Indoctrination" of children
- Use state education to promote a family limitation message
- Use non-state propaganda to shrink "ideal family size" in public image
- Encourage homosexuality
- Delay the age of marriage (via social pressure or law)
- Encourage women to work and seek higher education
- Encourage women to be politically active
- Discourage private home ownership (encourage renting)
- Taxation and income redistribution

THE FORMULA: White family + anti-family propaganda message.

"Low birth rates, huh? This totally justifies non-White mass migration."

World Bank's: 'Population Planning' - "describes the Bank's efforts to help member countries reduce population growth rates" <http://archive.vn/ZNBRO>

I recently asked a panel of distinguished experts to review our activities in the population field within the World Bank.

They took a hard look at everything we have been doing since 1969, and they rightly reproached us for a tendency to treat population too much in isolation from our other activities.

In short, they asked us to think about the problem in a more comprehensive way—and deal with it accordingly.

They were right. And that is exactly what we plan to do.

Let me, now, summarize and conclude the central points I have made this evening.

Importance. It would mean that the period of rapid acceleration in the rate of growth of the world's population has finally reached its peak and is now definitely moving downward towards stabilization.

But as welcome as this is, the fact remains that the current rate of decline in fertility in the developing countries is too slow to avoid their ultimately arriving at stationary populations far in excess of acceptable levels.

Unless governments, through appropriate policy action, can accelerate the reduction in fertility, the global population may not stabilize below 11 billion. That would be a world none of us

But governments can take action, and can accelerate the process, given the resolve and determination to do so.

The critical point is this: for every decade of delay in achieving a net reproduction rate of 1.0—replacement-level fertility—the ultimate steady-state world population will be approximately 15% greater.

Governments, then, must avoid the severe penalties of procrastination, and try to hasten the process forward.

The factors that appear to be the most important are: health, education, broadly distributed economic growth, urbanization, and the enhanced status of women.

These factors are at work in the developing world today, but their progress is too slow to be fully effective.

There are two broad categories of interventions that governments must undertake: those designed to encourage couples to desire smaller families; and those designed to provide parents with the means to implement that desire.

The first set of interventions sets out to alter the social and economic environment that tends to promote fertility, and by altering it to create a demand among parents for a new and smaller family norm.

To create the demand for a change in family norm, governments should try to:

- Reduce current infant and child mortality rates sharply.
- Expand basic education and substantially increase the proportion of girls in school.
- Increase the productivity of smallholders in the rural areas, and expand earning opportunities in the cities for low-income groups.
- Put greater stress on more equitable distribution of income and services in the drive for greater economic growth.
- And above all else, raise the status of women socially, economically, and politically.

To satisfy the demand for a change in family norms, governments and the international community should:

- Provide a broad choice of the present contraceptive techniques and services to parents.
- Improve the delivery systems by which parents can get the services they wish.
- And expand present levels of research seeking better tech-

The New York Times @nytimes
Opinion: Western men's sperr counts are falling, and we ought to be concerned. The Middle East can help.

TIME THE CHILDFREE LIFE
When having it all means not having children

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC THE NEW EUROPEANS
How waves of immigrants are reshaping a continent

Make a
DONATION
www.scandinavianfreedom.news